OU Playing Seminar Host To Secretarial Discussion

Co ed Of The Week

Program Will Divide In Two Sessions

The "Secretarial Image of the Future" comes under discussion tomorrow as the University of Omaha hosts the eleventh annual Seminar for Today's Secretary.

The program, beginning at 8:30 a.m. in the Gene Eppley Conference Center, will be split into two sessions. Those presiding are Dr. Leta Holley, chairman of the department of secretarial science; Jack Hill, professor of business administration; Miss Joyce Minteer, associate professor of business administration and Miss Verda Rauch, assistant professor of secretarial science.

Special guest speakers will be Dr. Gordon Culver, chairman of the department of business education at the University of Nebraska; Miss Ruth O'Keefe, certified professional secretary to the president of the United States National Bank; Mrs. Florence Culbertson, office manager for Industrial Chemical Laboratories Inc. and Dr. Wilfred Payne, emeritus professor of the OU department of human-

Dr. Culver will speak on the "Secretarial Image of the Future." "The CPS Image" and "Keys" will be the topics of discussion of Miss O'Keefe and Mrs. Culbertson respectively. Dr. Payne's talk will concern "Logic in Language."

A seven dollar conference fee will cover registration, luncheon and materials cost. The deadline for registering is today. For further information, contact Thomas E. Moore, director of Continuing Education. His office is in the Conference Six women were pledged by Phi Chi Theta March 17. Karen Carlson, Meridee Fokken and Mary Jo Lemker received pledge ribbons.

Grants Available

Five Alumni Scholarships Up For Grabs

Five scholarships will be up for grabs from Omaha University's Alumni Association.

Applicants must apply to the Alumni Office, Room 232 in the Student Center. Recipients of the awards will be announced at the Annual Alumni Achievement Awards Banquet on May 28. All applications for the awards will be due in by Monday April 13, in order for a student to be eligible.

One of the scholarships available is the Glenn L. Martin award. A student in the natural or social sciences, with an average of 2.5 or above will be awarded $100 a semester. It is open to sophomores or juniors for use during their junior or senior year.

The second of the five scholarships is the Wilfred Payne which is available to a junior student with an average of 3.0 or above, for use in his senior year. The recipient must be a candidate for a BA degree in the humanities.

The Peter Kiewit Engineering Scholarship is the third that is offered. Available to a civil or industrial engineering major with an average of at least 2.5, the award is for someone to use in his senior year. The student must intend to get his Bachelor's degree at OU. It is worth $250 each semester.

Although recommended, it is not necessary for a student to apply for the Daniel Jenkins Scholarship. Awarded for use in the senior year, the student must rank in the upper 10% of his class scholastically. Selection is made upon faculty and Dean of Students Office recommendations. One hundred and fifty dollars per semester will be awarded the winner.

The fourth scholarship awarded is the Sallquist Scholarship. The last of the five scholarships is the Pen and Sword Society tuition Scholarship which is awarded to one or more cadets recommended by the Air Force ROTC detach-

EDITORIAL VOICE

March 24, members of the University of Omaha Administration and the University Regents met with members of the State Legislative Council Study Committee on Higher Education. The topic was a plan for correlation of all higher education in the state which the Legislative Committee is striving toward.

From the main issue of an over-all plan concerning higher education in Nebraska, the discussion branched into talk of OU going under state control. The Regents and Administration turned thumbs down on such a move.

One Regent said that such a plan would not benefit the Omaha taxpayer and added that the taxpayer is happy as he is. State Senator Terry Carpenter, however, countered by saying that it is unfair to ask residents such as Omaha's to pay both state and local taxes for the support of higher education. Adding to this, another legislator noted that he feels that the people of Omaha should just about be reaching the saturation point as far as double taxation is concerned.

Perhaps proof of the Senator's words was voiced by Omaha residents last spring in which they solidly said "no" to a two-mill increase. And tentatively scheduled is another plea by the university for another increase, only this time it is requesting only one mill.

We ask, is this really an advantage to the Omaha taxpayer, is he really happy the way he is now? Will the Omaha citizen agree to increase his double taxation? This is very doubtful.

This same Regent, who voiced that the taxpayer is happy the way he is, also noted that staff morale at OU would diminish if this institution became the University of Nebraska at Omaha. Maybe it would, but what if the name remained Omaha University while receiving state aid under state control?

It is true that a municipal university is an ideal concept as far as higher education is concerned, but how much longer can it last here if the citizens refuse to increase their support to help increased expenditures of the school? Without support and money from the city's populace there can be no municipal university. If the voters say "no" again in the upcoming election, where else can this financial burden be lessened other than through state control? If the City of Omaha refuses to support its university, the university must look toward the state.

The idea is not one of backing a plan for the University to come under state control, but, to question the future of O. U. as a municipal university. This period in the University's history should be witnessing expansion growth if it is to serve the youth of the area. We would not like to see the state take control of OU, but as we see it, there is no other way in which expansion and growth can continue.

National Officer Will Address Chi Omega

Dr. Betty Jacka of Evanston, Ill., national secretary of Chi Omega Sorority, will speak at the first Omaha State Day of the sorority April 4.

She will make the major address at a banquet at the Student Center that evening and will appear during the afternoon at an informal program.

Dr. Jacka, who received her Ph.D. Degree from Northwestern University, is in her fourth term as a national council member of Chi Omega. At 23, she was one of the youngest women ever elected to a council post of a major sorority. She is an executive of the National Merit Scholarship Foundation.

Special state day guests will be members of Beta Zeta colony at Chadron State Teachers College and Chi Omegas from Kearney State Teachers College and the University of Nebraska.

Out-of-state representatives will come from the Universities of South Dakota and Wyoming, Kansas State University, Emporia State College and Coe College.

More than 125 out-of-town visitors are expected.

Liz Encell and Mary Johnson are co-chairmen for state day.

Library Obtains New Machinery

Copier Printer Aid Research Work

Dan Novotny

For the price of a Coke, students can now make personal copies of pages from newspapers, magazines and books which are in the Gene Eppley Library.

The recent acquisition of a Xerox copier and a Thermo-Fax Reader-Printer by the library will facilitate research and study work at the University of Omaha, said Miss Ellen Lord, head librarian.

A student who puts a dime into the new Xerox 914 Copier will receive a reproduction of a book page or article. The machine works equally well in making duplicate copies of class notes, homework, letters, etc.

The use of the copier as a study aid will not violate copyright laws "if one uses the duplicate copy in the same manner as he would the original in the libary," said Miss Lord. Further restrictions are to be posted on the machine.

The Xerox copier is located in the periodical section of the library on the first floor of the west wing. Guidance in the operation and use of the copier may be obtained from Mrs. Marion Playfoot, head of the periodical section.

The other new addition to the library, the Thermo-Fax "Filmac "100" Microfilm Reader-Printer, enables one to make a take-home copy of items found on microfilm. The library currently possesses over 2,000 rolls of microfilm containing the New York Times, World-Herald and other newspaper and magazine publications.

The student may utilize the reader-printer which is located in the microfilm room on the first floor of the library by the payment of a 10-cent fee per copy to Mr. Robert Haselwood, head of givernment documents and microfilm facilities.

"By leasing the Xerox copier and buying the reader-printer we are seeking to build research facilities at the University," said Miss Lord.

No Tenor Means Dropping Play

The HMS Pinafore was docked due to lack of a crewmember with a solid tenor voice.

Drs. E. L. Clark and J. D. Miller auditioned students daily to find someone to sing the tenor lead in the Gilbert and Sullivan musical.

"It was an extremely difficult part for a person to perform," according to Dr. Clark. Student interest was high as shown by the fact that the other parts were filled.

Replacing the musical will be the play "The World of Carl Sandhung"

Auditions are now being held for dancers and parts for the play, which will be presented April 23, 24 and 25.

Canterburys Will Broaden Outlook

Members of the congregation of St. John's Greek Orthodox Church will help Canterbury Club members follow the service Sunday at 10:15 a.m.

Club members are asked to meet outside the church at 10 a.m.

Once a year Canterbury Club visits a church other than an Episcopal one to broaden its outlook on other religions.

There are over 60 social, service, scholastic and special interest clubs on O.U.'s campus.

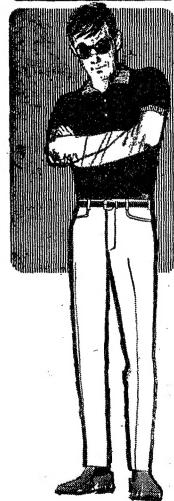

Foreign Film Stars Sellers

The Foreign Film Festival will begin with Englands "I'm All Right, Jack" on April 6. The films will be shown in the Omaha University Conference Center Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The first film stars Peter Sellers in a satire on big business, labor relations, TV and international diplomacy.

Editorial Comment

One of the most frequent complaints around the OU campus concerns the parking situations.
On occasion, someone off the campus has come up with a way to lessen the load.

When the First Christian Church was built on Dodge Street, the pastor agreed students could park on the church grounds. Certain stipulations, however, would have to be met, but OU students fell back and failed to show enough courtesy to keep the agreement.

Permission was given to park on the west lot of the church grounds but not on the east lot or in the driveways.

Church members have been unable to park on their own lots due to the congestion. Courtesy tickets are being given now. In the future, cars will be ticketed and towed away.

Shirley Johnson Contest Finalist

Home-Ec Major Makes Pillsbury Five

Shirley Johnson was one of the nation's five finalists in the Sixth Annual Pillsbury Awards Contest.

Shirley, a senior, and her college advise, Miss Margaret Killian, were flown to Minneapolis, Minn., March 22 for a three-day, all-expense-paid-trip by the Pillsbury Company.

"The trip proved to be a social as well as a learning experience," Shirley said. "I was entertained royally."

She competed there with four other girls from Louisiana State College, Ohio State Uniersity, Purdue University and Auburn University.

Final selection of the winner was based on personal interviews by company officials. Margie Earnest of LSC was chosen the winner.

For being a finalist, Shirley received $150 cash prize. The winner received a $500 cash prize, a job for a year with the Pillsbury Company and $2,500 for graduate study after that year.

'64 Baseball Season Starts: Home Opener Next Monday

by Dick Fletcher

The baseball season is opening in a big rush for Coach Virgil Yelkin's proteges. Five games in three days are kicking off the 1964 edition of Omaha University's diamond squad.

The home opener will be Monday afternoon, two o'clock on the campus field against William Jewell, in a double header. Today, the team takes on Northwest Missouri at Maryville, Missouri. Simpson College will host two games against the Indians at Indianola, Iowa, tomorrow.

Traveling Squad

Yelkin said 22 players have been taken on the traveling squad. He said he plans to have the seven pitchers on the trip throw a few innings each in the five-games on the trip.

The results of the season's opener, a double header, scheduled for yesterday afternoon at Peru State were not available at press time.

Three wins will provide Yelkin's 200th victory in 18 years as OU's baseball mentor. Leading the team towards an unprecendented sixth straight CIC crown will be three returning lettermen for the pasture patrol, tri-captain Wayne Backes, Paul Kaster, and Gary Backes, a four-year man will be back after hitting .290 last year, and trucking in 18 runs. In his other two years as a starter, the New Jersey product hit .356 and .339.

Fleet-footed Gary Gilmore may hit full stride this spring. He hit .238 and .328 his first two years. He had two homers and 15 RBI's to go with the .300-plus average last year.

"Whitey"

Paul "Whitey" Kaster heads up the list of hitters who played regularly last season, clubbing the ball at a .368 pace in 17 games. Kaster played both at third base and in the pastures last year.

Other outfield candidates include Sophomores Rich Vacek and Jerry Maguire, and Freshman Donald Vanderwerf. Vacek hit .364 last year while appearing in eight games.

Singleton, West Gain All-Star Teams

Two Omaha U. athletes capped off great seasons by being named to NAIA District II All-Star teams.

Sam Singleton, the freshman flash from New Jersey, landed on the NAIA's All-Star Basketball team. Snubbed in the selection for the all CIC squad, Singleton was fifth in scoring and eighth in rebounding in the final NAIA statistics.

After starting late in the season, freshman Carl West (North) was named to the NAIA's All-Star Wrestling team. An early season operation had kept him out of competition. West's season chart was 7 wins and four losses.

In other NAIA statistics Paul Kaster was second in Free Throw percentages with a mark of .786. Charley Meyers took seventh with .732. Larry Villnow came in fourth in Field Goal percentages with .514.

Tennis, Golf Teams Await Good Weather

With the hopes for continuous good weather, the University of Omaha tennis team began their practice at Dewey park last Tuesday in preparation for their opening match against Nebraska Wesleyan, April 10, at Dewey Park.

Coach Jim Borsheim, in his first year as the tennis coach, anticipates a good season although he felt that he knew little of the opposition the Indians will face this season.

The team has three returning lettermen from last season who will be expected to help carry the team to a victorious season, those being Ron Stepp, Bill Miller and Joe Benson.

The University of Omaha golfers will begin practicing for their opening match against the University of Nebraska with the opening of the golf season in the Omaha parks, according to Coach Ken Fischer.

The linksman will meet the Nebraska team April 6, at Miracle Hills Golf course.

INTRAMURAL OFFICIAL NOTICE

The Intramural swimming meet will be held April 15, at 5:30 p.m. at McMillan Jr. igh. The Intramural Softball league will start April 20th at 3:30 p.m. in Elmwood Park. Thirteen teams in two leagues (fraternity and independent) will play games on Monday thru Thursday.

All those who wish to enter Intramural golf teams must contact Burt Kurth in the Student Center before April 3rd.

The Omaha University fieldhouse has a capacity seating of 4,000 persons.

Williams, Gould To Carry OU's Hopes at Texas Relays

Terry Williams and Ken Gould will carry the Omaha University banner into the Texas Relays this weekend at Rocket Roger Sayers will not be able to defend his title in the University 100 yard dash because of the four year competition rule. The Texas officials were not able to come up with a competent open field so the possibility of an open 100 was ruled out also.

So, it appears that Sayers will delay his outdoor debut until the Emporia Relays on April 11th at Emporia State College.

Then the going gets tough. The Midland Relays are next, on the 15th, and the annual Kansas Relays occupy the weekend of the 17th and 18th. Sayers won the Texas 100 last year but pulled up lame at Lawrence and finished second to Purdue flyer Nate Adams in 9.6.

The advent of the warm weather should be a big booster to both Williams and Sayers. The pair received heavy recognition in recent track and field publications around the nation and Williams is listed by Kansas University publicist Don Pierce as a favorite behind Adams in the K.U. Relays 100.

Williams Better In 229

Terry ran a 9.5 century at Emporia just a year ago at this time to establish himself as one of the area's up and coming sprinters. However Coach Lloyd Cardwell still sticks to his theory that Williams is a better 220 man that he is in the shorter dash.

The Omaha Central grad took a third in the NAIA 100 behind Sayers and Ed Roberts of North Carolina College but was disqualified in the 220 after two false starts. He later teamed with Sayers, Mel Wade and Ray Hultman to shove the Indian 440 relay team into a third finish at 41.7.
